

INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT

1. Information from a class of national security information, the source of which cannot be disclosed, has been either discussed with you or exposed to your view. This disclosure was unintentional; therefore, it is necessary to acquaint you with the laws on the subject, and for you to execute the below statement binding you to secrecy in connection with any information you may have gained from the disclosure.
2. The importance of safeguarding this information cannot be overemphasized. The time limit for safeguarding of such information NEVER expires. You are directed to avoid all references to the existence of this information or words which identify it. Transmission or revelation of this information in any manner to an unauthorized person is punishable under U.S. Code Title 18, Sections 793 and 794.
3. Although you inadvertently gained information not intended for you, your signature below does NOT constitute an indoctrination of clearance or access to such information.

STATEMENT

I hereby affirm that I have read, fully understand, and will comply with the above instructions for safeguarding national security information which was inadvertently disclosed to me. I certify that I shall never divulge anything which I may have learned from having been exposed to this information, nor will I reveal to any person whomsoever, my knowledge of the existence of such information. I further certify that I shall not henceforth attempt to gain access to such information. I understand that by providing my signature and the other requested information below, I am executing a lifelong agreement with the United States Government to protect the information to which I was inadvertently exposed, and that I am not being authorized clearance or access to national security information.

Privacy Act Statement: Solicitation of your social security number is authorized by Public Law 104-134 (April 26, 1996), which requires that any person doing business with the Federal government furnish a social security number or tax identification number. This is an amendment to Title 31, Section 7701. Your social security number will be used to verify your identify, if necessary, when investigating the circumstances that led to the inadvertent disclosure of classified information. Failure to furnish your social security number may impede verification and delay the investigation.
